
What is the appeal of Mr Darcy?

Posted by xlu_lux - 2009/10/04 17:07

Im doing my dissertation on the appeal of Mr Darcy, focusing mainly on the Colin Firth portrayal, so basically what is it you love about Mr Darcy and if it was after watching the BBC/A&E production of Pride and Prejudice with Colin Firth that you fell in love with Mr Darcy, why?

Thanks!

=====

Re:What is the appeal of Mr Darcy?

Posted by TheDeprive - 2009/10/22 23:58

I think, I fell in love with Mr. Darcy because he's so reserved to Lizzy. He seems proud, cold and calm, but then he turns out to be severe, nice and generous. He consists of a large variety of character traits and is therefore a man that attracts women. The BBC movie is so much better than the one with Mathew McFayden. Only think of Colin Firth's awesome voice. <3

=====